THE DAILY SENTINEL.

C. L. MAC ARTHUR & D. M. KUELER, EDITORS.

Saturday Morning, December 14, 1844.

☞ We are often led to reflect, with admiration and pride, upon the happy results which American men and Republican institutions, are accomplishing in the way of introducing civilization, the arts, and social virtues, into all the nations and tribes of the great family of man.—The application of steam to facilitating travelling, (the invention of an American,) and the various other improvements which have from time to time been made, tending to bring together, and intermingle the products and inhabitants of far-off climes and nations, have undoubtly been the great mainsprings in bringing about that spirit of improvement, social progress, and enlightenment which seems to be predominant in all the nations of the Earth.—The countries of the Eastern hemisphere, are fast throwing off that isolated, selfish, wrapt-up character, which has heretofore distinguished them from their more liberal neighbors of the West. And simultaneous with their change of social habits, improvement, intelligence and liberal opinions are fast verging upon the decay of old institutions and antiquated theories. The enterprise of Americans, in establishing commercial, manufacturing and other relations with almost every people on the globe is undoubtedly affecting wonders, in the way of producing these happy results:

Among the people who are losing their isolated character, and fast taking a station in the social fraternity of nations, the example of China stands pre-eminent. We noticed in one of our exchanges, that two "veritable Chinamen" were recently seen promenading Broadway, examining with astonished and wondering eyes the various sights which greeted them. From a recent letter from China, we noticed that our honored countryman, the Rev. Dr. Abel, was in habits of constant intercourse with the higher classes of the "Celestial Empire." He has been the means of creating in the Chinese mind a highly favorable opinion of our countrymen and it was the general opinion that the restrictive system was to be given up, and more freedom of intercourse, and more liberal opinions to take its place. Let China once abolish her restrictive policy, and a few years will suffice to make material changes in the habits, character, and feelings of her countrymen.

☞ The Cherokee Nation appear to be rapidly advancing in civilization and the arts in their new home west of the Mississippi. They have now a government of their own, on the republican system, with Executive, Judicial and Legislative Departments. A new paper, called the Cherokee Advocate, printed part in English and part in the Cherokee language, has been recently started by W. P. Ross, Esq., at Tahlequah in the Cherokee Nation. Mr. R. is a half breed and was educated at Princeton College. Mr. R. writes with great facility and chasteness, and his paper is neatly printed and ably conducted.

It is to be regretted that a majority of the western Indians will not follow the example so nobly set them by the Cherokee Nation. With the exception of a few families of Indians in the Northern borders of the Territory, all the remnants of different tribes in Wisconsin are living in a state of abject poverty and wretchedness; readily adopting all the vices of their white brethren, without profiting by their improvements and social progress. The few Indians who have adopted a civilized mode of existence we believe are generally industrious, sober, good citizens. One of the Brothertowns was last fall elected a member of the Territorial Legislature, He is undoubtedly a Native American.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—On Thursday a fellow Stole a pair of boots from the Tremont House, and went to the Cottage Inn with his booty, where the owner found him. Having dispossessed the rogue of his ill-gotten spoils, he was led up to the Tremont House, where he was served up with a hard whipping with a raw-hide. The thief was at length told to leave, when he started off on a run, with the "executioner" following him, belaying his back with blows from the whip. The fellow made a piteous howl as he passed our office—and the whip seemed to be affecting miracles in the way of teaching him a lesson of morality.

☞ The N. Y. Courier & Enquirer tells a good story, the substance of which is, that the proclamation for Thanksgiving in Massachusetts, having been read by the minister to his congregation, just after pronouncing the closing sentence, "God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts," a veteran Revolutionary patriot arose and ejaculated in an audible tone, "he did that last Monday!" Monday was election day in that State.

EXPLOSION EXTRAORDINARY.—Some fellows in Cincinnati recently attempted to boil the contents of a beer barrel by throwing steam into the bung hole. The barrel, although willing to furnish its quantum of steam, objected decidedly to being put through the process of steaming. It accordingly exploded and killed two men.

☞ Clay's majority in North Carolina is 3,315 according to the official canvass.

EXCHANGE COFFEE HOUSE.—MESSRS. STEVENS and RICE have purchased this establishment, (formerly occupied by Delcampo,) and have fitted it up in a style, which promises to make it one of the most popular resorts of this kind in the city. MR. STEVENS is well known to the travelling public, as having catered to their appetites in the capacity of Steward on the Steamer DeWitt Clinton. MR. RICE is also favorably known to the travelling public, having been for the last ten years connected with some of the best Hotels in the Western country. The public can now be furnished with all the delicacies of the season, including wild game, fowls, oysters, &c., served up in the best possible manner

We recommend those who are inflicted with ennui, and loss of appetite, to call on Messrs. STEVENS and RICE and refresh themselves with some of the eatables and rare bits, which they have in abundance. A call will certainly do much towards giving one an appetite.

A GREAT WOMAN.—A woman dressed herself in men's clothes, and swore in her loco foco vote at the recent election, in Leicester, Livingston county, N. Y. After thus sustaining her political preferences, she stole a horse and ran away with it. The Algerine Whigs however pursued her and overtook her. The probability now is, that, like that immaculate patriot Tom Dorr, she will have to pay for her defence of Liberty, by a residence in a prison.

THE CRISIS.

"The spirit of party too frequently has its source in the darkest passions of the heart, and reveals itself in selfishness and ambition. It engenders the bitterest feelings; palsies the social virtues, warps the judgment, stifles the civilities of life and freezes up the warm gushes of philanthropy. It is amidst all this, we say—and let it be remembered—that foreign influence engrafts itself upon us and grasps at new powers. The long continuance and recklessness of this spirit, the indiscriminate freedom of ignorant and corrupt foreigners to promote its activity and participate in its evils, has blinded us to a sense of our danger and of our duty."

* * * * *

Out of party spirit also grows the nefarious acts of partizans in the naturalizaton of aliens. A sufficient number of voters are manufactured just prior to the elections in our chief cities to neutralize a majority of our own countrymen. Thus a constant contest is provoked between Americans and foreigners. Thus, too, newly fledged patriots are made for every occasion to subserve the interests of party. Not less than 2000 of these have been manufactured annually in this city, as we are told by a judge in one of the manufacturing courts, for more than thirty years! The acts, secret and open, which are practised by politicians in the manufacture of these voters, are revolting to every American patriot.

Secret committees of one at least of the parties are in session some weeks prior to the elections, for the purpose, as they publicly advertise, of aiding foreigners in procuring naturalization papers, and in facilitating the process.—Dead men's papers are unblushingly bestowed upon those who cannot find men bold enough to swear new comers through the forms of naturalization, and others are provided by the committee with partizans who are bold enough for this purpose, whether the candidates are entitled by the laws to papers or not. Droves are marched thence to the courts so called—and speedily made into "better Americans," as they style themselves; than native Americans. Naturalized foreign friends have been known to swear through hundreds of such "better Americans," and yet some of these when ultimately arrested for their perjuries, have escaped justice by declaring that they did not understand our language, or laws, or the nature of an oath! The committees pay the fees in this business; being themselves provided by the party, and receive the quidpro quo in the votes of these manufactured Americans. Large scores have been run up at these courts for the business of naturalization, but all is paid out of public spoils, gotten by means of these manufactured voters; and the American people ultimately "pay the shot."

Keeping fowls in Winter.—If you would have your fowls lay in winter, you must feed them well, procure a warm house for them, place a box containing gravel, lime and ashes, which they can pick at and roll in, and fresh meat two or three times a week. Raw beef is best chopped fine. Do this and eggs will be as plenty in winter as they are in summer.

THE CLOCK AT LUNDEN.—The cathedral at Lunden, in Sweden, is a magnificent structure, and has a very lofty spire, which serves as a mark for sailors, being seen at a considerable distance. The altar of this church is a beautiful piece of work; but what most engages the attention of strangers is its curious clock, which from the number of its movements and figures, may vie with those of Lyons and Strasburg. Every hour two horsemen come out and encounter, and a door opens which discovers the Virgin Mary sitting on a throne with her Divine infant in her arms, and the magii, with their retinue, marching in order and presenting their gifts, 2 trumpets sounding all the time of the procession. The clock, besides the hour, shows the month and day, and every festival throughout the year.—Smith's Wonders.

The Ballot Box.

BY M. W. BECK.

Freedom's consecrated dower,
Casket of a priceless gem!
Nobler heritage of power,
Than imperial diadem!
Corner stone, on which was reared
Liberty's triumphal dome,
When her glorious form appeared,
Midst our own green mountain home.

Purchased by as noble blood
As in mortal veins e'er run,
By the toil of those who stood
By the side of Washington—
By the hearts that met the foe
On their native battle plain,
Where the arm that strikes the blow,
Never need to strike again.

Where's the craven that would dare
Mar it with polluted breath?
Scorned and cursed, be his to share
The traitor's shame, the traitor's death!
Let his faithless heart be torn,
From his reckless bosom riven,
And upon the whirlwind borne,
To the carrion kite be given!

Guard it freemen! guard it well!
Spotless as your maiden's fame!
Never let your children tell
Of your weakness—of your shame!
That their fathers basely sold,
What was bought with blood and toil,
That you bartered right for gold,
Here on freedom's sacred soil.

Let your eagle's quenchless eye,
Fixed, unstrung, sleepless, bright,
Watch when danger hovers nigh,
From his lofty mountain height;
While the stripes and stars shall wave
O'er the treasure pure and free,
The land's Palladium, it shall save
The home and shrine of liberty.

Mental Constitution of Man and Woman.—Even when most cultivated, there is a degree of roughness and rudeness to be found in the mind of man when compared with that of woman which is, perhaps, inseparable from its superior strength. The difference is well seen in the parental Character. However fond a father may be of his child he would be teased and tormented by the constant watchfulness and attention which is necessary for its well being, and which is the delight of the mother to bestow. Her constant, patient, and cheerful attention to minutiae, would certainly require from him a much greater effort than from her, and would fatigue him much more than a very considerable exertion either of body or mind. Woman must always, of course, continue to be mother of the human race; and as no change in her condition can alter that law of nature, so neither can any change alter those peculiarities of her mental constitution which so nicely fit her for the duties of the maternal character. This character, the duties attendant upon it, and the peculiarities, mental and physical, which are required by it, is the best guarantee that the distinction between the sexes can never be lost by any equalization of their rights.—Mr. Hugo Reid's Plea for Woman.

TAILORS.—Many eminent men have served their time at tailoring. Thomas Woolman, a native of New Jersey, who first suggested the idea of abolishing the slave trade, was a tailor by trade. He published much on the subject, and went to Europe to consult distinguished men respecting the topic, where he died of the small pox in 1772.

Sir John Hawkwood—the first English Gen.—was also a tailor. His historian says of him, "He turned his needle into a sword, and his thimble into a shield." He died in 1394. In Heddingham there is a monument erected to his memory.

Benjamin Robbins, the compiler of Anson's voyage around the world, if not a tailor by trade, was the son of a tailor.

Sir Ralph Blackwell, knighted by Edward III., for his bravery, was a tailor by trade. He was the founder of Blackwell Hall.

John Stowe the antiquarian, who died in London about the year 1600, at the age of 80 years, was a tailor.

John Speed, the distinguished historian, served his apprenticeship at the same trade.

Let our tailors be encouraged. Many an eminent man, besides those we have mentioned above, has arisen to usefulnes and honor from this trade. No class of men among us are more industrious, and very few more intelligent.

The present King of France, one very cold evening, was riding from Boston to Salem on the outside of the stage. He was entirely without money to pay for a lodging, that night and he began to make friends with the driver to get part of his bed. After a while the driver's compassion was aroused. "You are not a very clean looking chap," said he to the poor Frenchman, "but my bed is in the harness room where there's a stove, and if you'll keep your trowsers on, and sleep outside, I don't mind!"—N. Y. Ev. Mirror.

It is stated that Mr. Blair of the Globe won $10,000 of one gentlemen on Mr. Polk's election. It is also stated that thirty millions of dollars, in money and property, changed hands on this election.

THE SIAMESE TWINS.—We extract from the letter of a correspondent of the South Carolina Spartan, the following account of Chang and Eng, and their families:

"You may be aware that some few years since, the Siamese twins, Chang and Eng, retired from the public gaze, and settled down in this country (Wilkes) as farmers. You will also recollect, that during last year it was published in some of the newspapers that they had married two sisters. This notice was treated as a hoax by some of the journals, and I incline to think that public opinion settled that the twins were still living in single blessedness. To my surprise I find that the supposed hoax is a literal fact; and that these distinguished characters are married men. Mrs. C. and Mrs. E. are well known to several of my personal acquaintances, and are said to be very amiable and industrious. Each of the ladies has presented her particular "lord" with an heir, in the person of a fine, fat, bouncing daughter.

It is said that Chang and Eng, with their wives and children, contemplate making a tour through this country in a year or two. The twins enjoy excellent health -are very lively, talkative, and apparently happy; and will doubtless appear more interesting and attractive in their second tour than they did in the first over the civilized world.—Having families to provide for, as prudent husbands and fathers, they may think their bachelor fortune insufficient for all the little Changs and Engs, of which they now have the promise."

CONJUGAL MANNER OF NEAPOLITAN ROYALTY.—The Paris newspaper, called la Patrie, gives us these particulars of the Neapolitan Royal family, with which that of France is about to be allied by the marriage of the duc d'Aumale, fourth son of Louis Philippe, to the Princess of Salerno

"One evening, when the Queen, Maria Christina, of virtuous memory, was about to sit down at the card table, her husband, King Ferdinand, by way of joke, drew back her chair, at the moment she was sitting down, and she fell to the floor in a position so indelicate, as to bring blushes to the cheeks of all in attendance. On rising, the Queen, outraged in her modesty, said to her royal husband, with justifiable indignation, "I thought I had married a King, but I perceive I have only given my hand to a lazzarone." The words were hardly uttered before a violent box on the ear from her royal consort followed. The Queen, then advanced in pregnancy, left the apartment in tears, and from brooding over this brutality and from the effects of the fall, she had scarcely given birth to a child before her strength gave way and she died Another Prince of this house—of which kindness towards wives is by no means a characteristic—the Prince of Salerno, future father-in-law of the duc d'Aumale, and one of the most enlightened Princes of Italy, ill-treated his young wife so shamefully, soon after the marriage, that the Emperor Francis of Austria sent to demand—"How it was that a little piccaninny Prince of Naples could presume to lay his hands upon an Archduchess of Austria?" These facts are notorious throughout Italy, and sufficiently explain the joy which the young Princess Caroline, of Salerno, manifested on hearing that her hand had been asked in marriage by a French Prince. The French have the reputation throughout Europe of being very amiable towards women—the sons of Louis Philippe especially are acknowledged to be of excellent character."—N. Y. American.

During no season since our city dates its existence, have so many buildings been erected as the present. There is no portion of the city that has not been materially changed since spring in its appearance, by new dwellings or stores. Five large warehouses have been erected on Water street, and a large number of wooden stores on, Lake street—all of which find occupants. Buildings have been erected in every part of the city, for the extension and commencement of new branches of business; and if we are to judge from the increase of buildings of all kinds, a degree of prosperity exists among us never before equaled. There is no complaint of a want of tenants and good rents. Mechanics and laborers of all kinds find ready and profitable employments. There is but little grumbling, but from the habitual croakers, and they would complain if inhabitants of the bowers of Eden.—Chic. J.

There are now six hundred paper mills in operation in the United States, giving active use to a capital of $16,000,000, manufacturing at least a sum equal to its capital per annum, and affording maintainance to upwards of 50,000 persons.

"Squire," said Mr. F., entering the office of a well known magistrate in this city, I have an account I wish settled; will you attend to it for me?"

"Certainly, sir. What is it?"

"It is my cash account—thirty dollars short—wish you'd collect the balance for me,"—Louisville Dime.

WISCONSIN IRON WORKS—Milwaukie, W. T. The subscribers having removed to this place the extensive assortment of PATTERNS of all descriptions lately belonging to the Eagle Foundry, Rochester, N. Y., and from which nearly all the Castings were made for the celebrated Rochester Flouring Mills, now offer to the inhabitants of the Western country, wanting Castings of any kind, an opportunity of selection rarely to be met with. The patterns comprising this stock have been accumulating at Rochester N. Y. since 1822; consequently a greater variety of Castings can be obtained for flouring, grist, saw and oil-mill irons, than at any other point in the western country. Also numerous sizes cauldron, sap, potash kettles and coolers; sleigh shoes, plain and fancy fire dogs; sad irons; tailors' and hatters' irons; wagon and cart boxes, plain or ground; brands for millers and inspectors; tobacco cutting machines; hoisting machinery for stores or warehouses; pile drivers, for man or horse power; bark mills and crackers; patent smut mills; pully sheaves, from 3 to 18 inches diameter; paper mill, coopers' and malt rollers; children's wagon wheels; hand, truck and millers' cast wheels; door and window caps, light and cheap; hinges for heavy mill and store doors; tanners' and coppersmiths' stakes swedging stakes and beading stakes; weights, 98, 60, 30, 28 [illegible], 14, and 7 lbs.; feet scrapers; for door-way [illegible] ew power presses, for punching or cutting [illegible] sting of every kind usually kept at Foundries. Also ploughs, dirt scrapers, joint harrows [illegible] se rakes cultivators, threshing machines, Pa[illegible] thresher, separator and horse power, and farming utensils generally. Parlor, box and cook STOVES, of the most modern construction, all of which are offered on the most liberal terms at wholesale or retail.

Connected with the Foundry is an extensive machine shop and forging establishment, where steam Engines of any calibre, will be built or repaired. Any kind of machinery built to order, and turning and finishing of all kinds done.—Also Hall's patent hand drills, a very useful article for smith's and machinists. Hall's new application of steam power to Saw Mills, whereby one third more lumber can be sawed than in the ordinary manner. Special attention will be given to steamboat repairs of every description, and the best of stock used. The subscribers expect shortly to be in readiness for casting HOLLOW-WARE of every kind. They are also agents for the sale of fire engines and hose, and for burr mill stones, bolting cloths, screen wire &c. Patterns made to order and catalogues of those now on hand furnished gratis on application. Brass and composition casting of all kinds. Orders from abroad promptly attended to.

REMOVAL AND NEW GOODS.

FRED. WARDNER

WOULD respectfully announce to his friends and customers and the public in general that he has moved his stock of merchandize from his old stand to the south store in Rogers' new fire proof Block, nearly opposite the Cottage Inn, where he will be happy, to see his friends and customers and supply their wants on the same liberal terms that he has in times past. Being fully determined to sustain the reputation he has acquired of selling goods cheaper than any other house in Milwaukie—and he would say to his old customers, that he feels duly grateful for past patronage and hopes that none will leave him in consequence of the change in his location.

ENQUIRE FOR FRED. WARDNER'S

deceived by any one who may tell you that we have moved out of town, or retired from business or any other long yarns to deceive you, but take a bee line for the new store. Be careful—be persevering—be sure that you are right—then go ahead, and you will find us at home with the largest, most fashionable, and best selected assortment of merchandize in town, which will be sold, as usual, cheaper than the cheapest. Call and examine goods and prices, if nothing more, as it will be a guide for you in making your purchase elsewhere.
